Lingerie is as varied as the moods of the women who wear it. Here, sultry Angela Melini redefines the contours of grace in ruffled panties. Fun-loving Barbara Burton (overleaf) co-opts traditional gingham for a merry widow, demonstrating just how spunky homespun can be.

Perfectly composed Kristen Williams orchestrates a trio of classical movements in lace. Marching to the beat of a different drummer, Neriah Davis (overleaf) grooves on doo-wop from the car radio in a mesh cutaway bodysuit.

Sensuality is in the mind of the beholder. To some, Elan Carter in floral frills (here and preceding spread) is the embodiment of desirability. To others, Tina Bockrath in thigh-highs, suspended vest and stogie (next two spreads) stirs the juices by challenging, "Are you man enough?"

Hot times and summers in the city have a narcotic effect on Lisa and Lynette Lavender (left, left to right and above), who move to beat the heat by losing their inhibitions along with their clothing. Love is the drug for the ravishing Samantha Dorman (following two spreads), who keeps her cool despite the soaring temperature and seems unaffected by the heat wave she creates.

Baseball is back, and Janay Micheals enjoys a seventh-inning stretch at the neighborhood pub. One look at her stats should convince any sports fan that she's in a league of her own.

Lisa Boyle (here and overleaf) proves a quick study after drawing inspiration from a few uninhibited role models. She takes one final peek, tries out a few tentative poses and finally launches into some creative improvisation.

Shelly Jones (preceding spread) positions her very classy chassis in front of one that's seen its better days.
Wendy Wilcoxon definitely doesn't need any bodywork, but for now she's stalled out in a terry robe.

Angel Boris has an abiding love for the sun that's reciprocal. The two will be frequent companions from the height of summer till the first chill winds of fall.

A lot is on the line for Victoria Arnaú today. She needs to make a good impression, so she takes her time selecting a sensible outfit. Ellina Giani (following two spreads) defies convention, both in her wardrobe and in personal body adornment.

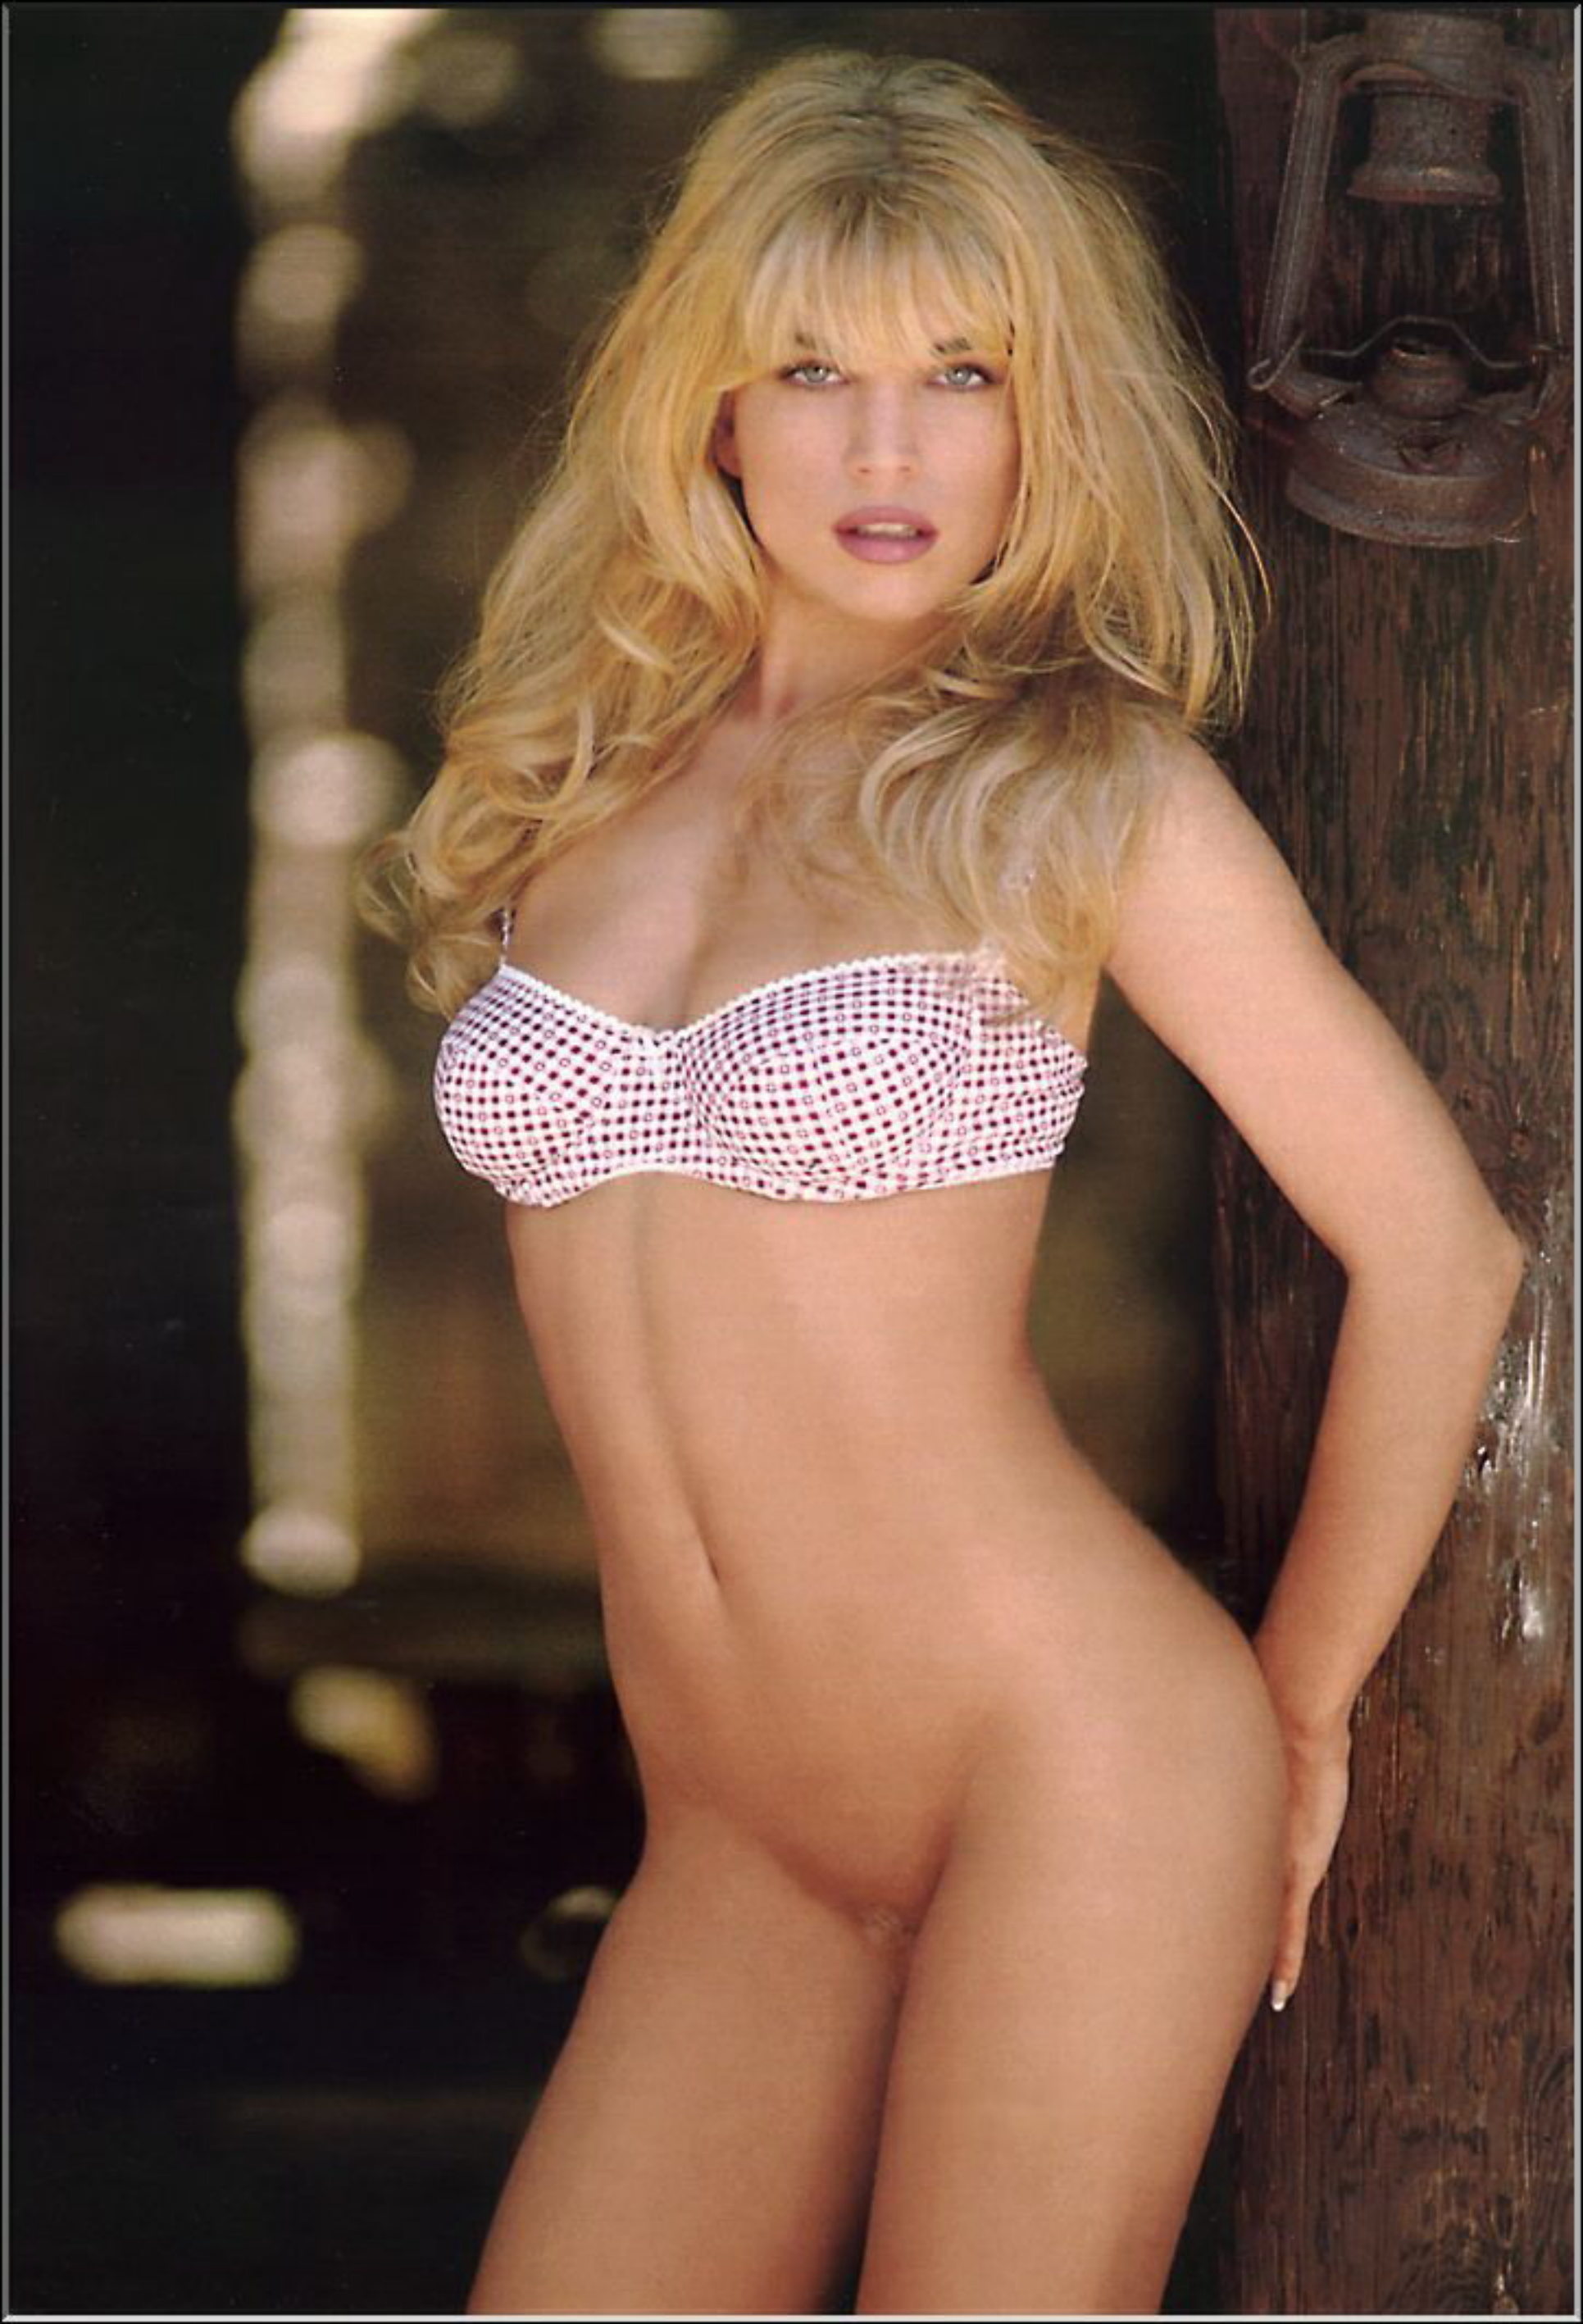

Sure, the world's gone mad, but the sight of bewitching blondes always puts things back in perspective. Surrounded by softness, Cathy St. George finds peace in silk, while Barbara Moore (overleaf) stays firmly grounded in funky denim.

These days celebrities seem to show all and tell all, but Keri-Anne is a rare bird indeed, and feels that the stairway to lasting success is built on discretion. She offers fans a brief glimpse before retreating to her private aerie. Jacqueline Wallace (overleaf) has star quality, too, whether decked out in goofy garden togs or 'gauzy finery.

A sudden summer downpour keeps Elke Jeinsen indoors (here and overleaf), but that doesn't dampen her high spirits. She'll drown out the thunder by blasting her favorite rock CDs, then dance to their insistent rhythm to burn off all her excess energy.

You never realize how short the summer is until it's almost over. Kim Egler and Suzi Simpson aren't quite ready to leave their beach house, so Kim puts the finishing touches on Suzi's look before taking a last seaside stroll. Meanwhile, we'll put the finishing touches on this Playboy's Book of Lingerie.
